Dear Parents and Carers,

It is never an easy decision to shut a school so a big thank you to all of you for your understanding and support on Wednesday afternoon. Unfortunately our heating broke down on Thursday morning, so we were not able to reopen. Fortunately we were able to get an engineer out and were able to reopen on Friday.

This week the leadership team have been looking at the pupil's topic books. The high standards of our English and Maths books are being echoed in Topic work. we will continue to focus planning opportunities for pupils to use skills specifically for subjects like history and geography, as well as those for English or Maths.

Next week the weather should be well on the way back to normal and we can begin to really feel that Spring has arrived!

Keep warm, and have happy and safe weekends.

from Elizabeth and all at Keyworth.

Reception and Nursery Lego Writing Workshop

A really big thank you to all the dads, granddads, uncles, male carers and father figures that came to our writing Lego workshop on Tuesday in both Reception and Nursery.

We often see less of a male presence at our Early Years workshops so we wanted to give an opportunity for dad's and other male figures in families to become involved in school.

A parent who attended the workshop in Reception commented 'I think is a great workshop which gives fathers and male guardians the opportunity to see and help their little ones develop'.

This is something that we will definitely continue and build on each year.
